My Essay

My Essay is based on the Nomad tribe in India. I am going to be writing about the ~~nom~~ Nomads lifestyle and the people who try to take over their piece of land, and give them terrible diseases.

In India they have ~~good weather~~ and the dry season, and the rainy season. In the rainy season the rainforests water level gets extremely high so they go to a fairly, dry place to stay whilst the rainforest is flooded. In the dry season the land forms into a beach. So the ~~Indis~~ Nomad tribe stay at the beach and relax.

Turtle eggs are very popular to the Nomad tribe and they ~~have~~ are a high source of protein. The turtles who lay the eggs, ~~bury~~ bury them in the sand hoping that the ~~Indians~~ Nomads wouldn't find them. But, the Nomad tribe are extremely good hunters and always know where to find them.

~~St~~ The Nomad tribe are also eat monkey, and other <sup>tapir</sup> foreign animals.

Camping on the beach is dangerous. There are people called loggers who cause deadly diseases that they have brought from their country. If you go out hunting you will see the loggars.

The loggars are (practically) naked! They are tall and broad and they are easy to spot. They have long hair, flowing past their shoulders and they have marks on their face. They tie feathers on their ~~eyes~~ wrists and upper arm. They also tie feathers on their thigh. They also have a belt tied around their waist.

I find it ~~int~~ the Nomad tribe interesting because they ~~also~~ always have to move places and because, I don't know why they haven't ~~harrit~~ made, the loggars go back to where they came from. I think the loggars should leave the Nomad tribe alone because it's unfair if you give them your diseases, you can spread it in your own country!
