

this mineral. Apple Incorporated has stated that it 'recognises the harm that militia conflicted minerals has done to Congo and will use conflict-free minerals in its products'. Samsung Electronics has stated it 'supports the ban on militia-conflicted minerals in Congo'. Traces ~~has~~ of Coltan have also been found in the 'Little Boy' bomb that had shook Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan in World War Two, also using uranium that had been mined in Congo. ~~I feel strongly about this subject, and~~ This shows how much of a goldmine Congo is and how the West wants to take their minerals and resources.

A recent story relating to the Youth exodus is the Libyan Slave Trade, a news story that blew up last year and is an issue that still plagues Africa today. Around 150,000 Africans make the crossing towards Europe ^{through} ~~passing~~ the Mediterranean Sea. In this crossing, these Africans have been captured by Libyan groups and would be sold into slavery. A journalist from the CNN, a news agency ~~for~~ based from the United States, captured footage of men and women being auctioned for as little as $400. These men and women are forced to live in overrun detention centers, which have been to be described ~~as~~ ^{to have} appalling conditions. This is an extremely obvious breach of Human Rights laws, and there have been reports ~~of~~ of robbery, rape and murder between these migrants. An estimated 400,000 to a million migrants are ~~believed~~ believed to be stuck in Libya. Libya is seen as a 'failed state' as it has devolved into civil war, riots, military rule and more. 2011's ~~President~~ President had no luck of incorporating any law into Libya, so there is no hope that the
