Contemporary history. This deals with the current affairs in a society. For example Congo war, Somalia war and South Sudan war.

History is important to people's lives in this world and according to me history is important in the following ways.

History helps us to understand our present way of life and things that are around us. For example sometimes the past gives us some ideas about what might happen in future.

Because of history, people are now well educated that they can read history for pleasure and get to know how they came into existence. For example man came from baboons.

History helps us to know the first group of traders who came to Uganda and the goods that were exchanged between them and the Africans. For example the Arabs brought gold, silver, guns and Africans gave ivory, gold and copper to them.

History helps us to know the rebellions and the causes between of the rebellions. For example Masi-masi rebellion and the cause of that was Africans to regain their lost land.

We have learnt about migration and settlement of people because of history. For example the Bantu settled in four groups that is to say, the interlacustrine Bantu, Coastal and highland, central and southern Tanzania Bantu and southern Tanzania.
